

Eurasian Ladies' Session

Prerequisites for Leadership

KazEnergy Astana

October 8, 2013

Julia Nanay

Reaching a Leadership Role

- Find a mentor who sees your potential, encourages and helps you grow in the organization
- Ability to work with others, inspire and encourage others around you
- Ability to communicate ideas

Reaching a Leadership Role

- Self-confidence to be able to excel
- Learn from others
- People skills, manage people, teach them
- Relationship building skills
- Build networks

Reaching a Leadership Role

- Foster an environment that helps the company to grow its business while growing the talents of those around you
- Willingness to work hard, careers are built on long hours and dedication

“Leaders aren’t born, they are made. And they are made just like anything else, through hard work.
That’s the price we have to pay to achieve that goal or any goal.”

- VINCE LOMBARDI -

Launch of New Book: Energy & Security

Foreign Policy Strategies for a World in Transition

- This new book on Energy and Security is divided into 7 Sections, first addressing the Global Framework for energy security, and then breaking the issues down by chapters and regions
- Chapter on Russia and Eurasia co-authored by myself along with one of the book's editors Jan Kalicki
- Premise of this book: This October marks the 40th anniversary of the Arab oil embargo. Since then the global oil and gas industry has undergone enormous changes
 - The US has moved from growing dependence on oil imports to a likely future of being a net exporter of energy
 - Shale oil and gas are impacting how all energy producers view their future
 - The book discusses the future of OPEC and the fate of nations in the Middle East and other regions, including Russia and Eurasia
 - A fundamental shift may occur in the way nations assess their energy policies, combining it with economic, climate, and foreign policy considerations
 - A move toward a new global energy security system (GESS) may be needed

Contact Information

Julia Nanay

Managing Director, Markets & Country Strategies Group

Phone: (1 202) 721 0315

Julia.nanay@ihs.com

For further information please contact the Client Services Team at info@ihs.com

pfcenergy.com | pfcenergy.com/contact-us

Data. Experience.
Insight. Solutions.

has acquired

PFC Energy